successfully acquiring entrepreneurial skills
and enhanced employability
at global level

FAILURES OPENS OPPORTUNITIES

Soar high ... in the new year with new resolutions

SD-SEED has been working for the last sixteen years to bring about a revolution in the field of education. Hon Shri Suresh Dada Jain is the Inspiration for SD-SEED, which is now an all-encompassing Scheme to help students achieve their education goal. Today thousands of students have successfully completed their education with its support and guidance from SD-SEED. SD-SEED conducts various training programs such as soft skill development, entrepreneurship development programs, motivational lectures by eminent personalities during the Scholarship Distribution Ceremony, providing opportunities for summer internship, mentorship and career guidance. It is through these programs that SD-SEED is working towards building a better society and this work is truly commendable.

Time does not stop for anyone, and we should move ahead with the flow of time. Those who stop, they are left behind. Hence it is good to always be ready to move with time. A Poet has well written,

"तू आहस कोण हे समजू दे जरा,
हृदयाने दिलेली हाक, तुझ्या मनापर्यंत पोहचू दे जरा,
आणि उंच आभाळी भरारी घे जरा..."

Friends, in the coming new year we will dream of doing something new. It is important to have these dreams, but first we must understand who we are. Life is made up of good and not so good times, which come and go. Life goes on and we pass from one stage to the next. We do not know what lies in the future, but it is important that we face all situations. Therefore, life will be meaningful only if we face and overcome the challenges that come our way.

Success and failure are meant to enrich life and how positively we take it is entirely up to us. Success or failure depends on mindset, so always stay positive. Always stay away from negative thoughts and especially negative people. There is a good saying, "Be honest with yourself and the world will be honest with you."

Each of us wants to scale the zenith of success in their career. In order to achieve this success some people work very hard but they do not achieve success, while other achieve success through working less. Your habits can take you towards or away from your goals. Let's learn about good habits which will help you reach your goals.

1) Focus on one task at a time

When you are working to accomplish many things at the same time, you cannot concentrate on any one task and most of your tasks remain unfinished. Hence focus on one task at a time.

2) Avoid repeating mistakes

Learn from past mistakes and avoid making the same mistakes again. This will help in your career's progress.

3) Don't let the mind get distracted

Once you decide on your goal, you should start working on it. You should focus on completing your goal and achieving the desired result. Your goal may be bigger and may take more time to achieve. Hence you should ensure your mind is not distracted and all your focus is on achieving the goal.

4) Set a Deadline to complete the goal

One of the biggest mistakes one can make is not setting a deadline to achieve their goals. Setting deadlines for one's goals is an important step towards achieving them. When you set a deadline, you will complete each task within the allotted time.

Everyone is different on this planet, hence we should never compare ourselves with others. We should always compete with ourselves. It is very important to maintain your focus. You need to have consistency and determination. See and experience this world as much as you can as this will bring progress in life. Everyone's definition of success is different. Each one has his own goal, such as to become an IPS Officer, IAS Officer, PSI, STI, Talathi, Clerk. So, if someone becomes a Collector, he will be as satisfied as someone who becomes a Talathi/Clerk/PSI. "Thembethembe tale sache" every drop joins to form an ocean. In the same way we should take small steps which will lead as close to our goal as possible...

If some dreams were left unfulfilled in the last year, resolve to see that in this new year is for completing them. If you have failed in any matter so far, always remember these words of a poet.....

Ek khwabtuta to kyakuchhua ..?

Enhance your Decision Making Ability!

The ability to make correct decisions makes life more practical and dynamic. The Decision-making process also plays an important role in identifying opportunities and helps in choosing the right opportunity. This ability is a conceptual and it is formed by co-ordination, combination and composition of various factors. In order to solve the questions and problems we face in life, we take decisions based on our knowledge, experience, skill and outlook. Naturally, being able to make decisions and implement them contributes to human development and makes life easier.

When we are unable to make decisions, or make decisions late we face problems, failure and difficulties. If you are unable to make decisions related to your personal life, it will affect your life. We should make conscious efforts to make our decision-making process and ability efficient, effective and fast by imbibing the following aspects.

❖ General Knowledge: General Knowledge is formed by perception and the assimilation of information. It is the understanding of what is happening around us in social, political, economic, religious, cultural, educational etc. and the reasons behind it. 'Knowledge is power' and when it is with us, it becomes easier to take quick and appropriate decisions with increased confidence.

❖ Experience: Experience is our true teacher and guide. Confidence increases tremendously if it is accompanied by a bundle of experience. In order to gain experience one needs patience, study, hard work and determination. Experience is multi-disciplinary and a single experience does not add any knowledge or skills. Naturally, along with experience comes our curiosity and an attitude of understanding and learning. Experience gives confidence and enhances decision-making ability. Always look at how your experience will be broad and multifaceted as it will increase your decision making capacity.

❖ Skills: Skills are of two types. One is life management skills and the other is professional management skills. Both skills are complementary. These skills are acquired through practical application of knowledge and experience. We need to diversify our operations and dramatically improve our management practices and operations in order to master our skills. Once you develop the skills of diplomacy, responsibility and accountability, your decision making ability is strengthened.

❖ Attitude: When doing our daily work, we have knowledge, experience and skills but if our attitude is negative and narrow then it becomes 'water on the back'. That's why your perspective while working becomes very important. Attitude, however, deals with the values, values and morals of your immediate life. So your attitude is an important factor influencing your decision-making ability.

❖ Inter Personal Relations: In your office or place of business, you interact with a total of four types of people. Your superiors, your juniors, your colleagues, and people who come to the office for work. All these four people are full of knowledge, experience, and skills. Therefore, it is imperative to imbibe some things from these people without giving the appearance of 'I understand everything'. Also, if we have a strong interpersonal relationship with all four elements, it also influences our decision-making process, and we make decisions in a more confident manner.

❖ Communication Skills: If you have warmth and gentleness in your communication along with accurate and appropriate communication, people will express themselves to you. The more information is known through open communication, the easier and easier the decision-making process becomes. When communication increases, the decision-making process becomes faster. Accuracy in the decision-making process can also be achieved as reservoirs of information and experience which are opened up through communication.

❖ Motivation & Encouragement: Motivation and encouragement play an important role in life's progress and work. Motivation and encouragement have declined dramatically over the past few decades. Due to this extreme depression and instability is experienced in social life. Individuals need to be self motivated, which should come from within. Self motivation requires alignment of the mind and brain and a positive thinking style to be adopted.

❖ Unknown fears : If I make a decision, it won't go wrong, right? If he fails, I will not be in trouble, right?, there are many types of unknown fears seen in life. Hence, an attitude is developed that it is better not to decide than to make a decision. Hence to overcome such fears it is necessary to instill confidence in a person. Such confidence is built only through knowledge, experience, skills.

The more accurate, strong and fast the decision-making process is, the more success and development is guaranteed, and you start living a simple, easy, straightforward, free and happy life.

Life is precious! Let's make it more beautiful!

THE ART OF PROBLEM SOLVING

In today's competitive age in business, it is very important to take the initiative, accept challenges and handle them successfully. Do you have the skill set to solve problems or find answers to questions? This is very important. In short, you should be able to identify the problem or question, understand the issue and find the right solution. But we are never trained in how to solve problems. When faced with such a situation, our reaction is usually:

- ❖ We get scared or anxious and want the problem to go away.
- ❖ We find a solution and decide that it is the right solution.
- ❖ Blame someone.

We primarily need to understand, "What exactly is a problem?" A 'problem' is when there is a gap between our goals and what we are doing, which cannot be bridged. Problems are often further complicated by differences with others. But at such times we should remember two things. One is that problems are an integral part of life and we cannot avoid them. Secondly and more important, problems are an invaluable opportunity to demonstrate our skills and expertise.

How to solve problems

- ❖ Understand the problem: Understand exactly what is the problem and what is the situation created by the problem? When working in a team, remember that each person may have a different perspective. The approach of each team member to the problem may be different. A simple thought is that no one will be at a loss if the problem is understood and a solution is reached. The best solution is the one which everyone feels is the easiest. Hence it is important to take a consensus on the decision.
- ❖ Brainstorming: Brain storming is a great and well-known method of arriving at an answer. In this, everyone in the group presents their own opinions related to the related topic, no one's proposal is criticized or ridiculed. So there is a lot of scope for creativity. In this method many different ideas are generated in a short time, or options are available to solve the problem.
- ❖ Select an option : Select an option: check all the options that are available. Review pros and cons of each option. Use the options that you think are the best to solve the problem..you may be able to solve the problem by combining various options.

- ❖ Keep a written record of the chosen options : Especially when the situation is complex, if the answer is difficult to find, writing down the options helps a lot. Also consider how to implement the option. Decide how you will handle obstacles if they arise. The trouble shooting process itself is time consuming; but if the problems are properly focused on and given time, the problem reduces. What is the biggest obstacle? A major obstacle in the way of problem solving is the policies we have already built. Often we form an opinion about the problem without seeing the whole picture. Due to this we cannot arrive at exact answers.

These policies can be of the following types :

- ❖ The problem is simple
- ❖ The problem is difficult
- ❖ Similar to an earlier solved problem
- ❖ The problem is impossible to solve
- ❖ No Problem

What are the barriers to problem solving

The problem should be broken down into smaller problems, so they are manageable. Our experiences and knowledge can be used in problem solving. We can learn a lot from our experiences and use these experiences to solve problems. Solving a problem sometimes requires persistence.

- ❖ Use imagination in problem solving : Some problems are such that no concrete alternative answer can be found. It is necessary to find some new way to solve the problem. But to solve the problem in this way, thoughts should not be stuck in any frame, prejudice and vision should be positive.

If you have the courage and confidence to do something new, you can solve problems with imagination.

- ★ To spread educational awareness among all stakeholders
- ★ To financially support eligible students for accomplishing their educational goals and occupational aspirations.
- ★ To develop and implement a comprehensive package of initiatives resulting in empowerment of stakeholders.
- ★ To make the program self-sustainable so that more and more students can benefit.

TESTIMONIALS

Manohar Ravindra Patil Dharangaon B.A.M.S. (First Year) My father passed away when I was young. Our financial condition was not good. My mother worked on a farm to earn a livelihood. When we face troubles, God helps us and sends people to solve our problems. I am very happy that God has shown me the way. I received help from Hon Shri Suresh Dada through the Scholarship. This Scholarship has given me financial assistance in my educational journey. I am confident I will surely become a good doctor. I am blessed with a father's support through Dada's blessings and I pray that God gives him a long life.

Apeksha Dwarkaprasad Jain, Jalgaon, B. E. Computer ( First Year)

I am grateful to SD-SEED for the Scholarship I have received. My father passed when I was young. My mother works in a private clinic. I was interested in continuing my education, but there was a lingering thought in my mind, from where would I get the funds. I am studying the First Year B. E. plus I am physically challenged and unable to walk. This Scholarship supported and strengthened my dream of continuing my higher education. I am motivated and focused to study diligently. SD-SEED is supporting me to shape my future. People who walk with their legs, cover the distance, but people who walk their heads reach their goals. I have received help from Hon. Suresh Dada to achieve my goals.

Vishal Dagdu Nikam, Bhadgaon M.Sc. (First Year)

I come from a middle class family staying in a rural area. My father works on a farm. After I completed my Class 10, I migrated to the city to continue my education in Class 11. I faced financial difficulties, but with the help of SD-SEED Scholarship I can complete my education. I am also happy that many other students are benefiting from this Scholarship and are also completing their education. I have experienced the saying, 'the Giver continues to give, the receiver continues to receive and one day the receiver takes everything the Giver has. I bow down in respect to Hon Suresh dada and his family for the affection and passion they have for students. I am grateful and indebted to Hon Suresh Dada for kindling the flame of knowledge in the lives of us students and spreading the light of knowledge to dispel the darkness of ignorance. I will eternally be indebted and grateful to SD-SEED.

Radhika Nishikant Baviskar, Jalgaon, B.B.A. ( Second Year)

SD-SEED is a lifesaver for meritorious but financially weak students like me. I belong to a middle class family. My father is terminally ill with paralysis and my mother is taking care of the whole family by stitching clothes. Struggling with this situation, I got help through the SD-SEED Scholarship to overcome my situation. I am using this scholarship to buy my books and school supplies. Also, I have got a mentor from SD-SEED and I get regular guidance. SD-SEED motivates me to overcome hindrances in my educational journey.
